Summer Reading List for 2011-2012

Students in grades nine through twelve must read at least five books or 1000 pages of choice from the grade-appropriate reading list and take suitable notes on each in preparation for both class discussion and written analyses. During the first week of school, students will be asked to complete a writing assignment on one of the books selected by the teacher. Students may choose to read up to two additional books for extra credit: one book will add one point to the student's semester average. Two books will add one point of the student's semester average for both semesters. (Students: Remember that you will not receive credit for books previously read.)
